Chelsea and Westminster Hospital is set to become the lead centre for neonatal and specialist paediatric surgery in North West London following a recommendation by the North West London Joint Committee of Primary Care Trusts.

The decision gives the Trust the green light to establish and lead a network between hospitals in North West London to improve surgical services for children.

The Trust has also received planning permission to build a two-storey extension off the west side of the main hospital building to facilitate development of a new paediatric theatre suite with four new theatres and to allow the co-location of children’s services on one level.

Heather Lawrence, Chief Executive said: “This is a very exciting time for the Trust and a great opportunity to look at new and innovative ways of working to ensure we maintain our position as one of the leading paediatric centres in the country.

“The decision to recommend Chelsea and Westminster as the lead centre is a great opportunity and also recognition of the high quality services the Trust has provided for children and their families over many years.

“The standard of care which the Trust provides can’t be achieved without genuine participation from staff and I’d like to thank everyone for their ongoing commitment to providing excellent service and going the extra mile for patients.”

Chelsea and Westminster will perform all complex paediatric and neonatal surgery in North West London and will be supported by two of London’s leading children’s hospitals, Great Ormond Street Hospital and the Evelina Children’s Hospital at Guy’s and St Thomas’ NHS Foundation Trust, to deliver critical care for children.

Heather Lawrence added: “We already perform the vast majority of complex paediatric and neonatal surgery in North West London. As the lead centre we will carry out all of this complex surgery in North West London whilst supporting other hospitals to deliver less complex surgery.”

The new children’s surgical network will support the sharing of knowledge and skills to enable children and young people to be cared for close to home wherever possible.

Heather Lawrence said: “We will work in partnership with Great Ormond Street Hospital and the Evelina Children’s Hospital, as well as hospitals in North West London, to ensure that the needs of the children and young people we care for and their families are placed at the centre of everything we do.”

Subject to agreement by NHS London and possible public consultation, the new arrangements will start in April 2010 and cover the eight PCTs in North West London—Brent, Ealing, Hammersmith & Fulham, Harrow, Hillingdon, Hounslow, Kensington & Chelsea, and Westminster.
Stroke services among best in the country

The latest National Sentinel Stroke Audit has ranked stroke services at Chelsea and Westminster as the third best in the country—congratulations to all staff who help provide such excellent care to stroke patients.

This independent assessment of our stroke services provides added weight to the Trust’s bid to be designated as a specialist ‘hyper acute’ stroke unit (HASU) as well as a local stroke unit.

Healthcare for London’s three-month public consultation about major trauma and stroke services in the London ended on Friday 8 May—a decision about which hospitals will be designated as HASUs is expected in July.

The Trust ran a major public campaign during the consultation period urging patients, members of the public and staff to back our bid to be a HASU.

Chief Executive, Heather Lawrence says: “We were delighted that the consultation recommended that Chelsea and Westminster should be a local stroke unit. The National Sentinel Stroke Audit demonstrates that our stroke services are of an excellent standard.

“Healthcare for London stated in its consultation that both Chelsea and Westminster and Charing Cross hospitals showed we could equally meet future standards for a HASU but recommended Charing Cross, part of Imperial College Healthcare NHS Trust, as the local HASU.

“The main reasons for this were that stroke services would be co-located with neurosurgery at Charing Cross and the hospital’s geographical location would lead to shorter travel times.

“Howver, if St Mary’s Hospital in Paddington (also part of Imperial College Healthcare NHS Trust) is designated as a major trauma centre under Healthcare for London’s proposals, the HASU would be located at St Mary’s rather than Charing Cross.

“We launched our public campaign because of our concerns that this called into question the reasons why Charing Cross, rather than Chelsea and Westminster, was recommended as our local HASU.

Healthcare for London has now recognised that, if HASU services are to be relocated to St Mary’s, a separate consultation exercise will need to take place.”

Research funds available from CLAHRCH

Up to £100,000 is available in matched funding for new research projects as part of the National Institute for Health Research (NIHR) Collaboration for Leadership in Applied Health Research and Care (CLAHRC) for Northwest London which is hosted here at Chelsea and Westminster Hospital.

NIHR will provide funding, resources, learning and development for research which will support the improvement of care for patients.

The aim is to bridge the gap between research and patient care in North West London and be of potential interest internationally. Projects that Chelsea and Westminster staff are involved in include medicines management, chronic obstructive pulmonary disorder and community-acquired pneumonia, and an HIV testing project.

If interested, teams or individuals should submit outline bids for registration of interest before 3 July. Successful applications will be announced in December 2009 and projects will begin on 1 April 2010.

See www.clahrc-northwestlondon.nihr.ac.uk for more information and application forms or call the CLAHRC team on x9666.

Research & Development Open Day
Wednesday 24 June, 10am–4pm

The annual Research & Development Open Day is an opportunity for staff, patients and the local community to find out how patients’ lives are being improved by research at Chelsea and Westminster Hospital. Following the success of last year’s event, which more than 250 people attended, this year promises to be even bigger and better.

The day will include a number of themed posters and related interactive demonstrations highlighting the wide variety of high quality research at Chelsea and Westminster Hospital. The posters will describe the journey of patients with various conditions and show how research has been involved in improving their care and quality of life.

Stuart Green, Research & Development Assistant who is organising the Open Day, said: “We want to encourage patients and the public to become involved in research projects by sharing their experiences with us.

“There are various ways to get involved from filling in surveys that will help decide the type of research we do, to working alongside researchers to make sure healthcare developments are going to improve patients’ experience in hospital.

“As well as posters and interactive demonstrations and activities there will also be refreshments, and an opportunity to meet researchers and find out what’s happening in your hospital. To find out more email us at research@chelwest.nhs.uk or contact us at x6825.”

Lorraine meets Health Minister to back campaign

Lorraine Pearce, Maternity Bereavement Facilitator, met Health Minister Ann Keen MP to discuss the Why 17? Campaign which aims to reduce the number of preventable deaths—17 babies die every single day in the UK.

Activists at the West London branch of Sands (the stillbirth and neonatal death charity) have also launched a Lorraine Campaign to have a Maternity Bereavement Facilitator and a Bereavement Room in every hospital.

They have named the campaign after Lorraine because she has made such a huge difference to so many bereaved parents at Chelsea and Westminster.

Creating Excellence Together Network

Cathy James, Chair of the Trust’s Black & Minority Ethnic (BME) Network, and Network member Juliette Walker were invited to the launch of East London NHS Foundation Trust’s BME Network Group to give a presentation on how to build a BME Network.

The BME Network would like to be able to extend networking opportunities for other Network groups in the Trust and welcomes enquiries for links to the East London NHS Foundation Trust.

STOP PRESS: Chelsea and Westminster’s BME Network has been renamed— it’s now called the Creating Excellence Together Network to make the network as inclusive as possible and to reflect the Trust’s drive for excellence.

Temporary relocation: Private Outpatients and Assisted Conception Unit

These departments are relocating from the Westminster Wing to the Chelsea Wing from Monday 15 June for approximately three weeks to allow the Westminster Wing to be refurbished.

All private outpatient and assisted conception services will continue as normal throughout this period. The consulting rooms will be relocating to rooms 1, 2 and 3 within the Chelsea Wing.

A shared reception area for Private Patients and the Assisted Conception Unit will be situated on the Chelsea Wing.

There are no changes to telephone numbers—all will remain as at present. Enquiries for Private Patients should be directed to Tina Lucas x4842. Enquiries for Assisted Conception Unit should be directed to Jason Lane x8911.

More than 1,500 people attended this year’s hospital Open Day on Saturday 9 May to enjoy attractions including behind-the-scenes tours, health advice, live music, exercise classes, a hospital food tasting and much, much more.

Open Day visitors gave their feedback on the event by using the Patient Experience Tracker devices which will be used to gather instant patient feedback in future—88% of visitors said that they would recommend the Open Day to friends and family.

Councillor Joanna Gardner, Mayor of the Royal Borough of Kensington & Chelsea, officially opened the event at 11am and other dignitaries who joined in the fun included local MPs Sir Malcolm Rifkind and Greg Hands. Sophie Ellis-Bextor officially opened The Kensington Wing during the day.

Congratulations to HIV & Sexual Health staff who won the Best Trust Stand competition—and well done to the ‘highly commended’ runners-up, the Matrons and the Treatment Centre.

Chelsea and Westminster Hospital Open Day 2009 was supported by Chelsea and Westminster Hospital NHS Foundation Trust Members’ Council which includes elected representatives of hospital staff.

Grateful Sophie officially opens The Kensington Wing

Singer-songwriter and model Sophie Ellis-Bextor was the special guest as The Kensington Wing—the newly improved private maternity unit at Chelsea and Westminster—was officially opened during the Open Day on Saturday 9 May.

She gave birth to her second son, Kit, at the hospital in February by emergency Caesarean nine weeks early after doctors discovered she was suffering from the potentially life-threatening pregnancy condition pre-eclampsia.

Baby Kit was born weighing just 2lb 6oz and spent a week being cared for in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit before he was able to go home with Sophie and her husband, The Feeling guitarist Richard Jones.

Sophie’s first son, Sonny, was also born by Caesarean section at Chelsea and Westminster after Sophie was diagnosed with pre-eclampsia.

Sophie says: “I was delighted to accept an invitation to come back to the hospital to officially open The Kensington Wing as a way of saying thank you to the doctors, midwives and all the other staff who have cared for me and my family. “The Kensington Wing provides the best of both worlds, private maternity care in a modern NHS hospital, and it gave me peace of mind that Kit was looked after in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit after he was born so prematurely.”

“I am extremely grateful to all the staff at Chelsea and Westminster for everything that they have done for us.”

56 Dean Street: The official opening

Lord Darzi, Parliamentary Under Secretary of State for Health, officially opened 56 Dean Street on Tuesday 12 May.

Located in the heart of Soho, 56 Dean Street offers a wide range of free and confidential sexual health and HIV services for men and women of all ages in a modern, contemporary environment.

56 Dean Street has free Wi-Fi access throughout the building and uses the latest technology to provide a quicker, more efficient service for everyone.

Lord Darzi was given a tour of the facilities before the invited guests heard speeches from Professor Sir Christopher Edwards (Trust Chairman), Lord Darzi, Heather Lawrence (Trust Chief Executive) and Leigh Chislett (56 Dean Street Clinic Manager).

Lord Darzi unveiled a plaque to officially open the new centre followed by gourmet canapés and soft drinks provided by ISS Mediclean.

Lord Darzi said: “Across the country the NHS is investing considerable resources to create state of the art premises designed with the needs of the patient at their heart. 56 Dean Street is an impressive example of this.”

Dr Alan McOwan, Service Director at 56 Dean Street, said: “In the first month after we opened in March, we saw a 19% increase compared to the number of people we saw at the Victoria Clinic which clearly shows that people are responding positively to what we have on offer at 56 Dean Street.”

Congratulations

Leigh Chislett, Clinic Manager at 56 Dean Street (left), and Imelda O’Brien, Young People’s Services Co-ordinator (centre), accept an award at the House of Lords from Baroness Massey of Darwen for successfully completing the ‘You’re Welcome’ quality criteria. The scheme aims to ensure that young people in England, including those in the most vulnerable groups, are able to access services suited to their needs. By 2020 all health services regularly used by young people should meet the criteria.

Dr Macky Natha, Consultant at 56 Dean Street, has won two awards from The Gilead UK & Ireland Fellowship Programme. The aim of the Fellowship Programme is to support the development, exploration and sharing of best practice which improves patient care in HIV, chronic Hepatitis B and Invasive Fungal Disease. Macky’s projects will focus on Hepatitis B diagnosis and vaccination service in the Chinese community and SORTED which is a rapid HIV testing service.
The role of the organisation is to:

A new name and a

NHS Training for Innovation (TFI) is the new name for THOTH (Training Hub for Operative Technologies in Healthcare)— based at Chelsea and Westminster.

The role of the organisation is to:

- identify gaps in training for newly adopted technology
- assess training needs for future medical
- recommend new technologies to assist in training delivery
- maximise benefits of new technology through more effective training and education

A new name and a

ground-breaking project

NHS TFI held a stakeholder workshop earlier this year to launch a new project called e4E—e-learning for medical equipment training.

Delivering excellence in education and research is one of the Trust’s three corporate objectives for 2009/10 and Chief Executive Heather Lawrence believes e4E will meet a real need for frontline staff.

She says: “This has been a gap in training and I know that doctors and nurses who use devices on the ward will find the new service invaluable.”

Inpatient survey results

In the latest annual survey of hospital inpatients 94% of patients who completed the survey rated the overall care they received at Chelsea and Westminster as ‘Excellent’, ‘Very good’ or ‘Good’—an increase of 4% from 2007 and 12% from 2006.

The findings were published by the Care Quality Commission in May 2009. Areas for improvement include information and communication, environment and food, and discharge.

Jane Tippett, Assistant Director of Nursing, said: “To improve information and communications we will be introducing the Patient Experience Tracker (PET) which will ask patients for their opinions on the overall quality of care they have received. The PET will be introduced in June to all the adult wards and the postratal ward. Ann Stewart, Weekly feedback will be sent to the wards electronically and wards will be expected to take appropriate action based on the results.

“Bedside lockers will be improved and we will be relaunching earplugs this summer for patients to reduce the noise on wards at night. During 2009/10, ISS Mediclean will hold tasting sessions for Trust representatives and patients with other food providers to improve the quality of food in the adult wards.

“86% of respondents to the inpatient survey said their discharge from hospital was delayed by one hour or more so this will be looked at by the Trust Discharge Group.”

NHS247 hosts the popular NHS Staff Discount scheme which allows NHS staff and immediate members of their family to benefit from discounts from hundreds of local and national businesses. These include hotels, travel agents, restaurants, beauticians and plumbers, amongst many other categories. Discounts range from 5% to 25%.

NHS247 features a competition to find the NHS employee of the month—any member of staff can nominate a colleague. The winner receives a prize for their outstanding contribution to the NHS. The prize is typically a break for two at a 4 or 5 star hotel.

NHS247 also carries a latest NHS news board and includes blogs, petitions and forums. To take advantage of these exclusive offers, NHS employees and Foundation Trust members need to register on www.nhs247.com—registration is free of charge.

Hand hygiene watch

We include an update on compliance with hand hygiene standards in every month’s Trust News to ensure the issue remains high profile. Standards of hand hygiene in the Trust are audited on a monthly basis by our infection control link professionals—nurses, therapists and other staff who are responsible for infection control in their area of the hospital.

Infection control compliance for March and April continued to improve—the average rate was 74% for March and 75% for April.

In April, three clinical areas scored 100%—Medical Day Unit, Annie Zunz Ward and Outpatients 2. In March the only area to score 100% was the Assisted Conception Unit.

A number of areas scored well in both March and April. Well done to Annie Zunz Ward which scored 100% in April and 96% in March. The Neonatal Intensive Care Unit scored 95% in March and 92% in April and the Burns Unit scored 90% in both March and April.

There is still plenty of room for improvement so please remember to use the alcohol hand gel that is available at the entrance to all clinical areas in the hospital.

New Business Development and Marketing Manager

Angela Clarke has joined the Trust as Business Development and Marketing Manager. She is part of the commercial team who will be adding some extra resource to the management teams across the Trust on a variety of service developments. Her primary focus will be in Medicine and Surgery.

Angela says: “I previously worked at Ramsay Health Care UK, a private healthcare provider, where I was the Corporate Business Development and Marketing Manager.

“I also have clinical experience as a radiographer—for the past 25 years my experience in healthcare has been split between clinical, managerial and commercial experience in both the NHS and private sector.

“Healthcare has always been my passion, it’s always dynamic and progressive and never more challenging than it is now. I look forward to being part of the Chelsea and Westminster team and the projects ahead.

“When I’m not beavering away at work I am a busy mum with ten-year-old twins (children) and two-year-old twins (Bengal cats). I will be found with a garden fork, wooden spoon or glass of wine in my hand!”

Congratulations

Mark Fielding

Congratulations to Mark Fielding who is the new clinic supervisor for Ophthalmology. Mark previously worked for the Trust’s Patient Advice and Liaison Service.

Mary Wray

Mary Wray, who worked as a Staff Nurse on David Evans Ward, said farewell to colleagues in March. Mary had worked in the NHS for 34 years and previously worked at the St Stephen’s Hospital.
