

NEWBORN LIFE SUPPORT (NLS)

AIMS

A course giving healthcare professionals responsible for initiating resuscitation at birth the knowledge and skills for the standard management of a newborn infant during the first 10-20 minutes. The course concentrates on the importance of temperature control, practical airway management and ventilatory support.

CONTENT

- History & Physiology
- Resuscitation at Birth
- Special Cases
- Airway Management
- Vascular Access
- Equipment Familiarisation
- Chest Compressions

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Staff working regularly with newborn infants. Doctors, midwives, neonatal nurses, paramedics, resuscitation officers and experienced nursing staff will find this course valuable.